About the HHA

The Historic Houses Association of Australia began in 1988 and demonstrates a continuing commitment to the promotion and preservation of privately held built heritage in this country.

The HHA recognises the importance of traditional and heritage trades in the ongoing conservation and maintenance of historic properties through the Trades Membership.

'Our heritage is about our future as well as our past.'

Trades Membership

'Tradespeople are as much a part of our cultural heritage as the buildings they've created.'

Trades Membership of the HHA is available to those tradespeople and companies who practice traditional construction and repair techniques or engage in rare or 'lost' craftsmanship.

Trades Members will be entered on to the HHA website, including relevant images (logos etc) and links to websites.

New memberships will be announced in the HHA hard copy newsletter and via social media (reach of up to 20,000+).

Trades Members will receive a dedicated eNews.

Trades Members will be offered the opportunity to speak at certain HHA events.

Please note: the HHA will not endorse and/or recommend any of the businesses listed as Trades Members.

Trades Members only receive the benefits listed above. Individual Membership is required for event discounts etc.
